Prepared On	8/18/2026

Executive Summary

AI Executive Summary

The term report for JKT HUB Schools indicates a strong attendance record among students but highlights significant gaps in course engagement and performance. No assignments have been submitted, and quiz participation is lacking, leading to a low overall performance across the board.

Key Insights

- All students maintained a perfect attendance rate of 100%.
- There are no completed assignments or quizzes, indicating a lack of engagement with course materials.
- The course 'AI Sparks' has 4 enrolled students, but none have progressed, with an average completion rate of 0%.
- The overall attendance rate is 100%, but the lack of participation in quizzes and assignments raises concerns about student engagement.

Potential Risks

- Students may fall behind in their understanding of course material due to lack of participation in quizzes and assignments.
- The absence of completed assignments and quizzes may lead to lower grades and potential issues with course certification.
- The current trend of non-participation could affect student motivation and retention in future terms.

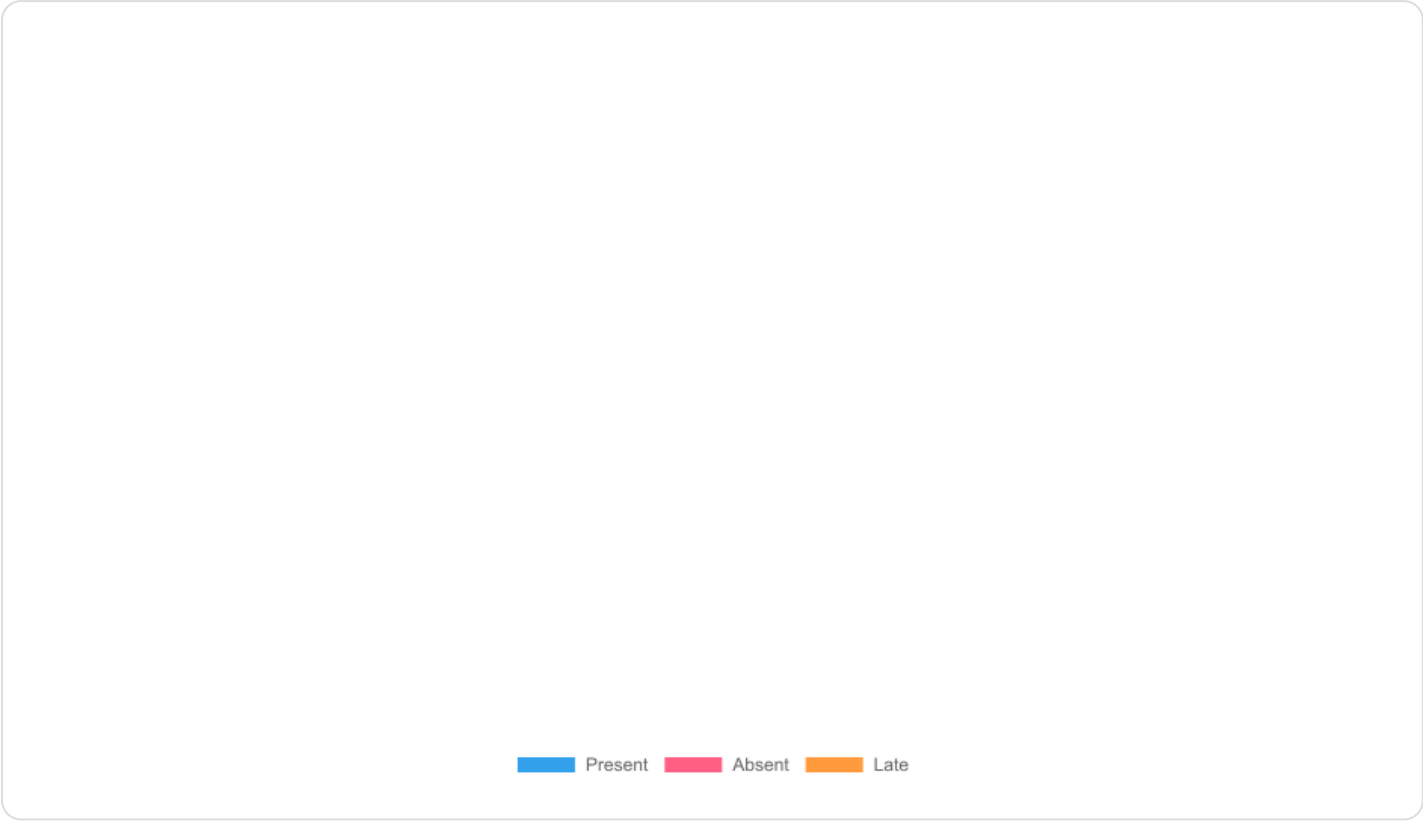

Recommendations

- Implement engagement strategies, such as interactive quizzes and discussions, to encourage participation.
- Provide additional support and resources for students struggling with course content, including tutoring sessions or workshops.
- Set clear expectations for assignment submissions and quiz attempts, with reminders and incentives to complete them.

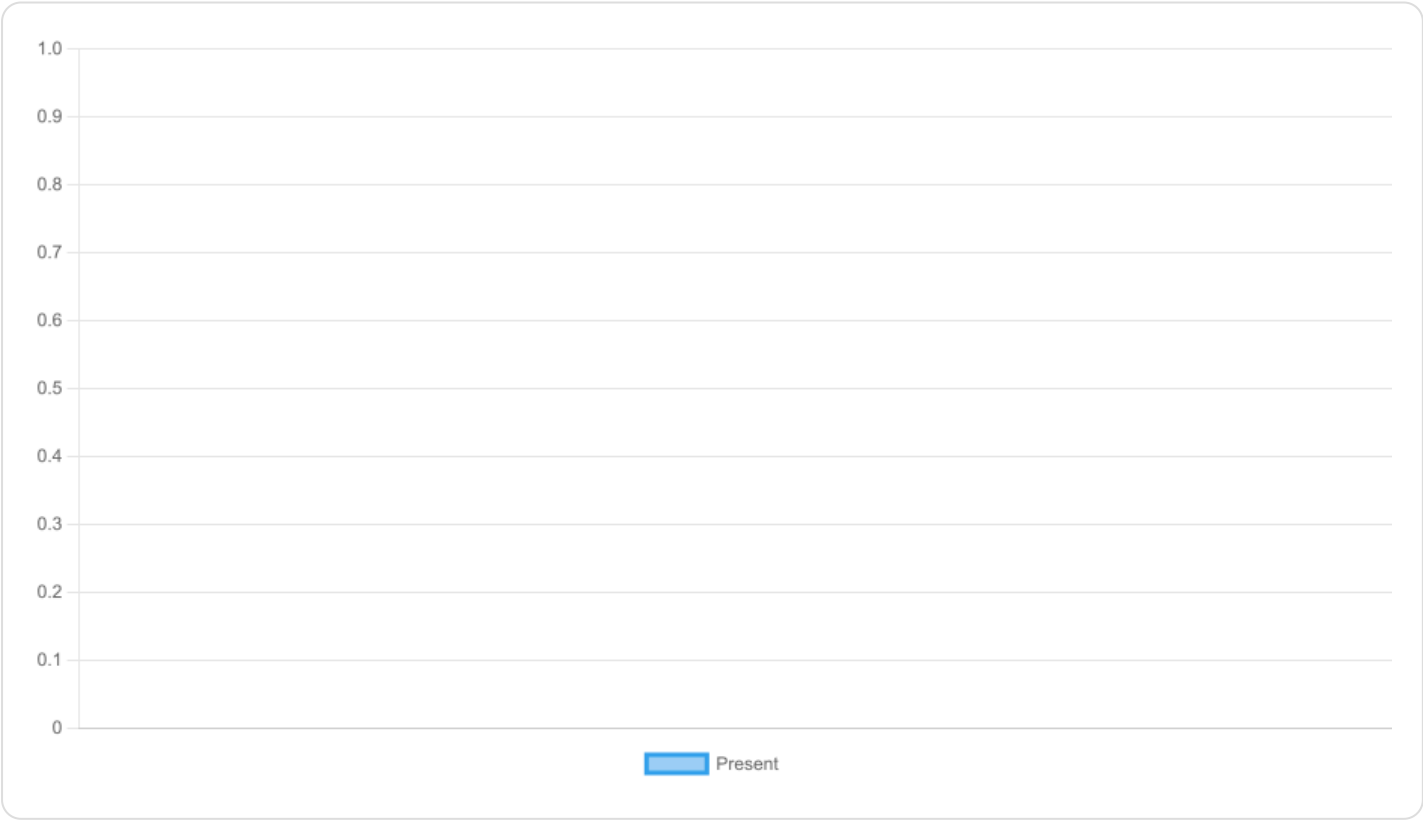

- Consider introducing a rewards system for completing assignments and quizzes to motivate students.
